The network has been set up as a co-operative for women managers in the public, private and voluntary sectors along with women business owners. It will provide formal and informal networking meetings along with opportunities to meet and hear from a variety of guest speakers who are experts and highly experienced in their chosen fields.

The aim of the network will be to encourage women to support and encourage each other to develop their management and business skills and help access opportunities to develop themselves and those around them. By combining women business owners with those working in the public and private sector it is anticipated the network will encourage entrepreneurial development in others.

Meetings will be held across the region and at varying times, from breakfast and lunchtime meetings to evening meetings, thereby facilitating the needs of all members.

Using a combination of formal and informal events, the generation of ideas and skills assessment will help the network to put together female orientated training programmes covering personal, professional and management development.

Membership to the North Wales Women's Network Co-Operative is £40.00 per annum and will enable you to access:

- networking events
- training events
- regular news sheets
- on-line discussion boards and resources
